The Burial

장송

Written by Hwarin Jeon

Sunest · Korea
224 pages · October 2026

★ Korea Story Contest Excellence Prize, 2026 Busan Story Market Korean IP ★

The emperor is dead. The living are sealed in his tomb · A missing imperial seal, and a race to get out alive

When the emperor dies, palace women, eunuchs, soldiers, craftsmen, and scholars are sealed alive in his tomb—buried with him, as custom demands. The tomb is a maze. Traps and mechanisms decide who takes the next step.

A missing imperial seal pulls the fight for the throne inside the grave. One person needs money to keep a family. One came for a grudge. One is tangled in a love affair. They were sentenced to the same death. They did not live the same lives, and they will not survive for the same reasons. Alliances flip. Betrayal follows help.

Outside, the succession war goes on. An action-adventure mystery that turns a historical rite into a race to get out alive. Can anyone leave a tomb that was built to keep them in?

Hwarin Jeon · Author
Hwarin Jeon plans and writes stories for film, television, and fiction. She won the Dong-A Ilbo New Year's Literary Contest in the screenplay category, an Excellence Prize at the Korea Story Contest, an Excellence Prize in the KBS miniseries script contest for career writers, and an Excellence Prize in the story category of the Korea Content Awards.